

This sequence diagram demonstrates the interaction flow between the student, the user interface, and the course service during the course enrollment process. It highlights how the system retrieves the course, adds the student to it, updates the course data, and finally displays a confirmation message upon successful enrollment.